The objective of compost activity is to recycle organic waste into a valuable resource that can be used to improve soil health and fertility. Composting has many environmental and economic benefits.

Reduces methane emissions from landfills. Methane is a greenhouse gas that is 25 times more potent than carbon dioxide at trapping heat in the atmosphere. When organic waste is composted, it breaks down anaerobically, which produces methane. However, when organic waste is composted aerobically, methane emissions are significantly reduced.
